PRESIDENT'S INVITATION

Welcome to the Wisconsin Park and Recreation Association 2025 Annual Conference & Trade Show!

The theme for this year's conference, "Diamond Jubilee" is a celebration of WPRA's 60th anniversary. This milestone is a perfect moment to reflect on six decades of achievements and to look forward to the future with anticipation. Like diamonds, WPRA members exhibit exceptional resilience and brilliance, with your dedication and creativity shining through in the vibrant communities you build. What better setting than the annual conference to come to polish your skills, enhance your knowledge, appraise your development, and cut loose at one of the networking opportunities?

Tuesday evening is the time for that "retro" jersey hanging in the back of the closet to celebrate "Legends of the Game." But do not get flagged for excessive celebration because Wednesday is a jam-packed day! Paul Wesselman, "The Ripples Guy," a personal favorite speaker, is sure to inject a ton of energy into the start of conference. In the afternoon, plan to attend the annual trade show to connect with commercial members. Be sure to thank them as their support plays a big part in making our conferences great! After the trade show, enjoy some down time as you channel Rihanna to "Shine Bright Like a Diamond" or 90s Billy Ray Cyrus for that head-to-toe denim look at our Denim & Diamond social. This event will be at a venue we have never visited before, making it a must-attend experience!

On Thursday, we will have a full day of educational sessions before our annual awards banquet to recognize the successes of our colleagues. The Awards Committee turned up the vibe at the banquet in 2025 so come see what is in store this year! Before attendees leave re-energized on Friday, there will be an end note address from Ali Starr and the rollout of the 2026 Conference. Neither of which you will want to miss.

Thank you to all our volunteer members on section boards and committees who contributed to making this year's conference a success. Cheers to Andrew Rossa and the whole conference committee for giving us an outstanding event to learn and grow while also celebrating our history and success as an organization. Here is to a great week at conference!

– Derek Donlevy, WPRA President

WPRA PRESIDENT

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIR

Thank you for attending the annual Wisconsin Park and Recreation Association Annual Conference & Trade Show! As the WPRA celebrates 60 years, the Conference Committee is thrilled to announce this year's "Diamond Jubilee" theme.

Our return to the sparkling Kalahari Resort & Convention Center is focused on a week of networking, professional development, and skill-building. At this year's conference, we will continue to provide excellent education opportunities for parks, recreation, executive, aquatics, emerging professionals, and DEI program areas.

Several phenomenal speakers will anchor our week in the Dells, led by Paul "The Ripples Guy" Wesselmann, who will deliver the keynote address. Paul will dive into his career focused on interpersonal connections and personal effectiveness, as well as bring his radiant positivity that is sure to "ripple" through our conference and back to our roles as park and recreation professionals. Following his address, Paul will also lead an all-conference networking event, new to the WPRA Conference this year.

Other speakers include Ignacio Enriquez Jr., who will highlight essential strategies to manage and de-escalate crisis situations in a pre-conference session for the executive track. Speaker Ali Starr will close the event, promoting the jewels that we all possess within us as we strive to overcome our own internal critic.

Beyond the presenters and workshops, we cannot wait to connect with our colleagues from around the state again! The first night of the conference will bring us back to an old gem in Tom Foolerys for an evening of arcade games, axe throwing, basketball, hockey, golf, darts, and string bowling. Represent your team on Tuesday by wearing your favorite team jersey (old or new) for our "Legends of the Game: A 60-Year Tribute" theme. On Wednesday night, we will celebrate the 60th anniversary with a "Denim & Diamonds" social. Join us at an amazing off-site venue for food, drinks, and a live band. Make sure you submit any historical photos about your department from the past 60 years! And following our Thursday awards banquet, we will celebrate the week at Cinco Niños, a modern Mexican restaurant and tequila bar, and the newest venue at the Kalahari Resort.

We are looking forward to another phenomenal event in 2025. Here's to the "Four Cs" of the week: Conference, Connection, Collaboration, and Camaraderie!

HOW TO GET THE MOST OUT OF THE 2025 ANNUAL CONFERENCE

You can get the most out of your conference experience by having a plan before you arrive. Below are some techniques to get the most out of your conference investment.

1. Arrive Ready to Network – Interacting with others, especially people we don't know, requires stepping outside of your comfort zone, but it's worth it. The contacts, learning, and interaction will boost your confidence and create great connections that you will find helpful in the future. Be prepared to start conversations with strangers or ease into group discussions where you have information or ideas to contribute. If you see someone new, invite them to join in!
2. Be Prepared – Plan Ahead. Use your conference time wisely. Decide in advance what sessions you want to attend so that you can focus on other things once you get to the conference.
3. Consider Your Learning Objectives – Why do you want to attend? What do you hope to learn at the event? Who do you need to connect with? What industry trends do you want to know more about?
4. Attend and Leave Your Work at Work – It is very common to see conference delegates checking emails, making phone calls, and even participating in conference calls during breaks while at an event. Let people know you will be away, and set up your voicemail and email auto responder to notify people that you are not available. Do whatever you can to keep your work obligations from stealing your attention from your educational investment.
5. Trade Show Time is Valuable – The exhibit hall is a key part of every conference. The exhibitors can show you new technologies and products that can dramatically enhance your work performance. Use your time at the Trade Show wisely and plan to visit every booth...in addition to meeting new people and learning lots of new things, you could win some great prizes! Remember to thank our exhibitors for attending. Their support makes a huge difference to our Annual Conference.

6. Follow Up – Collect business cards from colleagues and commercial partners and write personal notes on the back to help remind you of your discussion. Stay in touch through social media. Send a quick email reminding people of your conversation at the conference.
7. Share What You Learn with Your Colleagues – It will reinforce your own learning, strengthen your team, and make it easier to negotiate attending the event next year. Ask to present the best ideas captured at your next staff meeting.

Burke Brings Next Level Inclusion with THE NEW 360 LOOP™

Next level inclusion and independence was the mission when BCI Burke launched the 360 Loop into the market and it's safe to say – mission accomplished. The latest addition to the Burke inclusive collection of products takes inclusion and play equity to the next level by providing more children independence in play and an opportunity to climb and slide with a transfer station at the ready to make the transition smooth and fun. Climbing up and sliding down, otherwise known as the “Circle of Play”, is one of the most common ways for children to play on a playground structure and, until now, wasn't independently accessible to children using mobility devices. The 360 Loop changes that with a Transfer < Climb < Slide loop that allows children with upper body strength to transfer independently and be part of a transformative experience for them and for their caregivers. Next level Play That Moves You® from Burke's Team of experts.

“The details of the 360 Loop create an experience that is approachable for children and helps them achieve a level of unprecedented independence in play. Textured handrails that run parallel to a user's hips while transferring are designed at a height that is mechanically ideal for lifting the body as they proceed up the climber. Transferring up the climber, kids can use their hands, upper bodies, or legs — whatever is most comfortable for them — to work their way to the top before they come down the slide, and then repeat the process as often as they'd like, creating a “Circle of Play” they can be part of.”

Bart Mayer
Lead Industrial Designer

“Combining transfer access, a universally designed climber and a slide into one revolutionary play event allows children with differing mobility to play alongside their friends, without the assistance of a caregiver. Parents and caregivers with differing mobility can play alongside their children and experience the joy of intergenerational play in a way that hasn't been available before.”

Sarah Lisiecki
Communications & Education Manager

INNOVATION REDEFINES INCLUSION

360 LOOP™

Transfer - Climb - Slide is the circle of play and for the first time, it's for everyone. Independent play is not only what children want, it's what they need and the 360 Loop allows children of all abilities to define their play experience. It's Play That Moves You.

2025 KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

Opening Speaker: Paul Wesselmann, The Ripples Guy

Paul Wesselmann holds degrees in psychology and education, is the author of two books, and has spent the last three decades giving upbeat talks at conferences, workplaces and campuses around our state and around the country. Over 25,000 subscribers enjoy his weekly RIPPLES emails; thousands more follow @RipplesGuy on social media. His previous sessions for WPRA Conferences and our Leadership Academy have consistently received rave reviews and we are excited to welcome him back to help us celebrate our Diamond Jubilee.

This year's Opening Keynote session is titled "Resilience & Radiance: Celebrating Our Diamond Legacy, Inspiring A Bright Future." We want to kick off our 60th Conference with an unprecedented combination of enthusiasm, inspiration and connection, so we asked our longtime friend Paul Wesselmann (known to many of us as THE RIPPLES GUY) to join us for an upbeat, interactive, and inspiring session that is guaranteed to lift our spirits while exploring practical ideas for professional and personal growth. Many of us know that Paul helps people unleash their best work by sharing ideas around two skillsets: Reaching OUT skills to help us more effectively connect with each other and the people we serve; and Reaching IN skills to help us more consistently show up with the best available version of ourselves. Paul's promised to bring a combination of best practices from his past content, and some brand new content that he is assembling just for us.

Endnote Speaker: Ali Starr, Tashi Deley

Ali Starr started her own business to pursue a passion and a dream. The name of her business is Tashi Deley (Ta-She De-lay). It is a Tibet greeting that means "honor the greatness within you." Prior to creating Tashi Deley she served as the Vice President of Culture Development at Verve, a credit union. She had the privilege of serving many different heartbeats prior to creating Tashi Deley she was the principal at Lourdes Academy Elementary Schools in Oshkosh, Wisconsin while coaching their high school girls' basketball team. Ali has also worked for the NBA, NCAA, and NBC. Ali lives by the motto "Who you are is good enough, don't ever stop creating the next best version of yourself. It feels great to grow."

During this keynote you will learn the importance of practicing the art of honoring the greatness within yourself and others by being aware of our main saboteur, our judge (internal critic). Your brain rewards you for creating a judgment; however, it is unable to discern the accuracy of your judgements. Your brain's main function is to save your life. When you are in our survival brain it doesn't allow you to thrive. Your thoughts, both accurate and inaccurate, might be more vital than how you communicate with others. Our "judge" is typically activated when we think and operate out of ego or insecurity. When you are operating out of ego or insecurity you are unable to live in the "circle of health." The judge wants you to consistently judge yourself, others and the circumstances. In this growth session we will name and claim our judge. Then we will create a plan on how to tame it moving forward.

EveryBODY Plays in a Different Pair of Shoes: A model for commUNITY Inclusion

Matthew Vanderkamp & Damian Buchman

Community collaborators, Damian Buchman, Founder and Executive Director of The Ability Center, along with Matthew Vanderkamp, Director of Recreation, Wauwatosa Recreation, will share their passion for community inclusion, and how by working together they have created America's most inclusive community sports league, along with an inclusive recreation program that enables everyBODY to play together. Both Damian and Matthew, along with the Recreation Department in Wauwatosa, have been collaborating together since 2016 to introduce some of the country's most innovative and inclusive programs. From Adaptive Open Gyms to a 3v3 Wheelchair Basketball league for everyBODY, this collaboration has proven that no matter the age or ability, all people can play, recreate, and compete together in a different pair of shoes.

Resilience & Radiance: Celebrating Our Diamond Legacy, Inspiring A Bright Future

Paul "The Ripples Guy" Wesselmann

This year's Opening Keynote session is titled "Resilience & Radiance: Celebrating Our Diamond Legacy, Inspiring A Bright Future." We want to kick off our 60th Conference with an unprecedented combination of enthusiasm, inspiration and connection, so we asked our longtime friend Paul Wesselmann (known to many of us as THE RIPPLES GUY) to join us for an upbeat, interactive, and inspiring session that is guaranteed to lift our spirits while exploring practical ideas for professional and personal growth. Many of us know that Paul helps people unleash their best work by sharing ideas around

“Yes Drill Sergeant” - How Paramilitary Preparation Increases Performance

Tracy Stayton

Trends in aquatics seem to point to making lifeguard training more silly and fun instead of realistic. But should fun be the focus in a position where consequences can be dire, for both the employee who fails to react and the patron who requires care? Lifeguards are first responders. So are law enforcement officers, paramedics, and firefighters, all of whom consistently drill in realistic settings with realistic scenarios with paramilitary precision. Lifeguard should not be the exception. Using structured, realistic drilling disciplines staff and helps them better understand the importance of their role and how to properly identify, respond, and treat patrons. It also not only creates a sense of personal confidence and pride, but fosters teamwork and leadership amongst the staff. This session is for any new or seasoned aquatics professional to gain perspective, ask questions, and acquire performance enhancing techniques to raise staff confidence, readiness, and performance.

Say More Without Saying More

Bobbi Nance

One skill that remains as valuable on the first day of your career as it does on your last is communication. And while the number of communication methods are increasing, making it easier than ever to reach out to someone, our audiences' attention spans are shrinking, making effectively sharing the meaning behind your messages a constant challenge. Get an insightful primer into how we process information and see how the ways we typically share information actually works against us. Then, whether it's sharing data, writing a report, creating a presentation, or even just writing an email, discover simple ways to increase the impact of your message without increasing your word count.

Tracy Stayton

“Mind the Gap” - a British term used in train/tube stations to warn people of the danger should they not avoid the gap between the platform and the train. However, gaps in our mind are something to be “minded” too! When we do not receive all of the information, we often begin filling these mental gaps with less than solid, accurate information. The result is that we find ourselves, our customers, and our colleagues at a destination far from intended: Frustration Station. During this fun and interactive session, we will identify communication gaps we can “mind” as well as tools to prevent and/or mend them. Participants will leave better equipped to avoid communication pitfalls resulting in better interactions personally and professionally.

No One Cares About Your Data

Bobbi Nance

Does your group have the right data processes in place, but is struggling to gain much benefit from them? Maybe you can't figure out what to do with the endless influx of survey results, how to act upon the data sitting in your registration software, or how to make your performance measures more than just an annoying extra task when creating your annual budget. Or maybe you see the value in your data, but can't get your staff on board or get your elected officials to care. Whatever the reason, learn how to evaluate and tweak what you collect, measure, and share so that you can decrease the chances that it collects dust sitting on shelves and in your software and instead becomes part of your group's day-to-day. Evaluating Your Services from New Angles

Bobbi Nance

Understanding our customers' needs, wants, and preferences has always been complicated, but with individualization and expectations on the rise, it's getting even harder. Before you send out another survey, discover new ways to gain insights about your customers - everything from simple observations to creative dives into your data, as well as tweaks that you can implement to make your current efforts and surveys more impactful. With the potential to positively impact everything from equity to income, don't miss this chance to look at your customers in a new light to better engage and serve your community.

Make Rainy Days Special

Jed & Roz Buck

How do you make every minute of the day a unique and special part of your program experience? How do you mitigate unexpected program consequences like surprise rain or an absent staff member? How do you and your fellow staff members turn down-time into fun-time all the time? Join us for this interactive session to learn/play a creative collection of easy games and activities that you and your team can add to your toolbox as you prepare to make every minute count!

CLOSING KEYNOTE SESSION

10:45 am – 11:45 pm

Don't Believe Everything You Think!

Ali Starr

During this keynote you will learn the importance of practicing the art of honoring the greatness within yourself and others by being aware of our main saboteur, our judge (internal critic). Your brain rewards you for creating a judgment; however, it is unable to discern the accuracy of your judgements. Your brain's main function is to save your life. When you are in our survival brain it doesn't allow you to thrive. Your thoughts, both accurate and inaccurate, might be more vital than how you communicate with others. Our "judge" is typically activated when we think and operate out of ego or insecurity. When you are operating out of ego or insecurity you are unable to live in the "circle of health." The judge wants you to consistently judge yourself, others and the circumstances. In this growth session we will name and claim our judge. Then we will create a plan on how to tame it moving forward.
